ARMY NATIONAL GUARD REORGANIZATION

As of 1 April 1959 the Army National Guard was reorganized under the Pentomic concept.

In order to clarify the numerous unit changes resulting from the statewide reorganization the following three exhibits are presented; the first one being arranged in three columns setting forth the present dispositions, the alignment prior to reorganization, and also the interim designations which, in actuality, were cancelled out due to the later receipt of final Combat Arms Regimental System designations which were made retroactive to 1 April 1959 by National Guard Bureau orders; and correspond to those designations shown in column

one. This interim designation was however, used by respective units for an appreciable period immediately subsequent to the reorganization date of 1 April 1959. The second listing of old and new unit designations by locality, should further explain and tie together the numerous changes occasioned by the reorganization order. The third exhibit which is a partial reproduction of the General Orders Number 42, dated 20 May 1959 shows the relationship between the interim and final unit designations.

S. C. AIR NATIONAL GUARD REPORT, FY 59

The S. C. Air National Guard made outstanding progress during FY 1959 in both strength and training.

Strengthwise, the Air Guard expanded from 66 Officers, 1 Warrant Officer and 645 Airmen to 75 Officers, 2 Warrant Officers and 757 Airmen by the year's end.

The 169th Fighter Group, which was Federally recognized on 5 September 1957 and reorganized on 10 April 1958, was in the midst of exchanging its F-80 jet aircraft for F-86L all-weather Sabrejets at the beginning of the Fiscal Year. The complexities of the new aircraft required that every pilot complete an extensive transition program before any combat training could be undertaken.

Exceptional progress in this training enabled the Fighter Group to qualify everyone of its tactical pilots as combat ready according to USAF Standards in the new aircraft before 30 June 1959.
